CHECK MATE

Checks emerge as the seasonal wardrobe staple almost every year, and for good reason

Whether it's the bar or the boardroom, there is no place where checks look out of place. And with several styles on offer—tartan, gingham, plaid, windowpane—the chances of getting bored are close to none. The only question you need to ask yourself, then, is this: should I go pattern-on-pattern or play it safe with monochrome options? Get a head start with these cool pieces that'll see you through your work week, and at dinner over the weekend.

“Checks feel like a breath of fresh air in the sea of florals and polka dots. Wear the classic pattern as a dress or go print-on-print—there's no way of getting this wrong”

UNDER THE SKIN

It is edgy, bold and might not be everyone's cup of tea—yet faux leather never fails to appeal to the fashion-conscious

This fall, you wouldn't be off the mark for calling faux leather the new black. Over the years, this fabric has assumed an impressive level of sophistication that commands sartorial experimentation. Men can pretty much throw a biker jacket on any look before hitting the road—whatever the occasion, this is your go-trend for the season. Bonus, you get to contribute to the greater good by choosing socially conscious fashion.

NO KIDDING

Red, yellow and tangerine—all things bright paired with playful prints define the micro-fashion mantra this fall

Children start their fashion education early nowadays; so kidswear is definitely a category worth paying attention to. Unlike earlier, little ones today have an opinion on style and what they'll allow in their wardrobe—the primary focus being colour. Bright hues and fun prints are flying off the shelves, as stately whites and neutral shades just don't cut it anymore. Add sunshine to your kids' closets by choosing from our top picks.

LAYER UP

From feather-light variations to oversized silhouettes—all kinds of quilted jackets will always hold you in good stead

Quilted jackets are on our style radar for a few reasons right now. The fall staple can be used to work off-duty with a pair of jeans just as easily as an intricate top-stitched version can earn points with the fashion police. Lastly, bright colours currently rule the runways, and the options available in quilted jackets are generous on that front. Here, we tell you where to look and what to buy to ace the trend.

Quilted jackets add a vibrant touch to your look. Women can pair them with black tights and ankle-length boots. A well-fitted jacket is a wardrobe staple.

IN THE LONG RUN

Don't let runny make-up and frequent touch-ups ruin your festive mood

After spending hours on your make-up, the last thing you want is for it to get smudged even before you get to your destination. If you've ever wondered how celebrities carry off flawless scarlet pouts for hours or how models manage to avoid smudged mascara till the after-party and beyond, please know that you're not alone. Here are all the long-lasting products that actually deliver on what the label promises, as well as insider tips for applying make-up that won't budge till the wee hours of the morning.

HOW TO MAKE YOUR MAKE-UP STAY

- Make-up works best on cleansed and nourished skin. Prep your face by washing it with a mild cleanser and follow up with a light, water-based moisturiser.
- If you have oily skin, it's best to apply a primer before your base. This will keep your make-up exactly where it's meant to be through the day.
- Always opt for a light, water-based foundation or BB cream that will help your skin feel fresh for longer. But look out for matte or mineral powder foundations if you have oily skin.
- Gentle dusting with translucent powder as the final layer once you've applied your lipstick, can make it matte, and help increase its longevity.
- Wind up your routine with a setting spray to get an enviable photo finish and seal your make-up in place.
- Reapplying make-up may not always be an option. So the least you can do is dab your face with a blotting sheet to soak up excess oil.

HOW TO WORK SHIMMER

By beauty blogger Mehak Sagar of Peacesandblush.com

- Don't use shimmer all over your face, or if you are prone to breakouts. For instance, wearing liquid shimmer with your foundation is not a great idea. Instead, use it to highlight certain points, like your cheekbones.
- Use highlighters that have finer shimmer particles and not chunky specks.
- Shimmery eyeshadows are great, but before application, gently dust your brush to avoid a glitter fallout all over your cheeks.

Summer Haze Shimmer Oil, price on request, H&M, available at DLF Mall of India

Colour Play Lipliner, ₹ 1,150, Inglot, available at DLF Promenade and DLF Mall of India

"Shimmer is the adult version of glitter, and therefore it is crucial to get it just right. A shimmer spray, preferably in gold or copper, is perfect for nailing that sun-kissed glow"

— ANNANYA SABARWAL, COUNTRY HEAD, KIKO MILANO

BOLD MOVE

Bright, statement lip colours outshine muted nudes on every front

You could play it safe and breeze through the festive season with the same nude gloss you always wear. Or you could listen to the beauty gurus and follow their edict to go bold. And having got an eyeful of the sumptuous lip colours on offer this fall—traffic-stopping red, eye-popping orange and grunge purple—we're swaying in favour of punchy shades. As you pencil in long party nights in your schedule, take cues from our round-up of the hottest lip shades to channel your inner diva.

- Just like a chunky piece of jewellery, bright lips create a statement and upgrade a basic look.
- A bright lip colour with blue undertones (like cherry red) also gives the impression of whiter teeth.
- When you opt for a statement shade, it's best to go minimal with the rest of your face.
- Don't fret about finding the right shade; rusty orange and neon pink work perfectly with Indian skin tones.

Who says a man's skin doesn't need that much-required TLC? Start with these hydrating moisturisers Skincare lotions and potions aren't just restricted to women's cabinets any longer. Men's skin comes with its own unique set of grooming needs, and a good moisturiser is the key to solving at least half of those. Whether you want to take the flaky edge off your skin or you're looking for something to tackle the aftermath of the brittle winter air, here's what you need to add to your kit.

"Don't fall prey to the common misconception that men's skin doesn't need a moisturiser; more so, if you have oily skin. Stay one step ahead of the harmful effects of pollution by applying moisturiser just before you step out and before going to bed at night"

— ZERXES WADIA, LIFESTYLE BLOGGER
